PRETTY GIRLS TO BE TRAINED IN STAGE ART FREE

Mr. Frohman's Offer Includes Six Months' Tuition and 40 Weeks' Engagement.

PRIZES FOR A DOZEN.

Evening World Readers Will Sélect Lucky Winners for Theatrical Manager.

One feature of Charles Frohman's extraordinary offer through The Evening World of an opportunity for stage careers to twelve pretty girls should not be overlooked. He guarantees them tuition in singing, dancing and acting which would cost each girl from $300 to $500 in a dramatic school. And the dramatic school gives no guarantee of employment.

This offer permits the good-looking girl to make an experiment as to her vocation at Mr. Frohman's expense. If at the end of her schooling she has succeeded she will have a profession she may follow with the same financial and professional results as experienced by Eina May and other theatrical stars who have risen from the chorus.

To each of the twelve pretty girls World Mr. Frohman will hand a con-tract for forty weeks' employment on the stage, at a salary of $25 a week (making a total outlay of $12,600).

This contract will include a trip to Europe and a chance to appear at a London theatre. If the fair applicant succeeds, she will receive another cor ment in the Frohman companies.

Six Months' Tuition.

Each of the dozen lucky girls who win in The Evening World contests will receive in addition six months' free tultion in singing, dancing and acting, to The conditions of the contest are very simple. Here they are: The competition will be open for the next three weeks' closing Dec. 10. buring that time all applicants are requested to send their photographs to Pnotograph Editor, Evening World,

P. O. Box 1351, New York City." On the back of each photograph must written the full name and address of the competitor; her height and the color of her hair and eyes. None of these details are for publication, in case of the applicant's failure.

The Evening World cannot undertake to return any photographs. But those that do not win prizes will be destroyed, and the entire affair regarded as confidential, as far as they are concerned. Twenty-four in Final Test.

At the close of the three weeks' duration of the contest all photographs will be carefully looked over by a committee competent judges selected by M Frohman. These judges will select the twenty-four which in their opinion are the most beautiful.

The twenty-four photographs will be printed in The Evening World, and readers will be asked to decide by vote as to which is the prettiest girl of the entire two dozen. The twelve girls receiving the largest number of votes will at once begin their course of training under Mr. Frohman's direction.

The list of successful competitors, as published in The Evening World, must accepted as final. Any contestant writing direct to Mr. Frohman on the subject will at once be disqualified.

PARIS, 28th NOVEMBER, 1908. The announcements of Perrier, the French natural sparkling table water, which have appeared recently in the press appear to have disturbed the equanimity of another water which is being heavily advertised at the moment. Wo directly accuse this water of imitation. The Perrier bottle is so distinctive in shape that it virtually establishes a trade mark and it is unfortunato that this other water should have been so lacking in originality as to imitate the Perrier bottlo. The inference one must draw is that this other water has attempted by weight of advertisement to forestall a repetition in America of the phenomenal success which Perrier Water has achieved in Europe. Fortunately this imitation can only extend as far as the bottle. Perrier Water itself cannot be imitated in any factory. Imitation is very foreign to the American temperament and we feel confident that the public will resent the tactics of this imitator and will not be tricked into accepting another water in the place of Perrier through a similarity in bottles. Again our imitators resent the assertion that natural carbonic acid gas is superior to the manufactured. product. It is as different as diamonds from paste or cheese from chalk. Suffice it to say that the medical opinion of the world, in particular Prof. Henriot, of the Academy of Medicine of Paris, whose opinion must carry weight, recognizes this vast difference between natural and manufactured carbonic gas. The difference, however, does not require medical testimony. Everyone can make the experiment for himself. Compare organs will soon appreciate the difference .-- PERRIER."

The competition is not open to women who are already on the stage.

"The Dollar Princess" is the production in which the winners will make their debut. This was to have opened in New York next February, but Mr. Frohman has postponed the first performance until next September in order to give the prize-winning twelve full time to study their new profession under his direction before making their initial bow to a metropolitan audience.
